A Letter From Our Foundation

November 2024

John Thomas Quehl
6.22.97 - 9.20.21

The Jack Quehl Foundation and Do it For Jack are committed to educating our community about the dangers of fentanyl poisoning. After we lost Jack, we didn't want another family to be blindsided by fentanyl. We started the foundation to spread awareness in Jack's name. The more we share our story, the more lives will be saved.

During 2022, our first year, we accomplished more than we ever imagined. We officially launched the foundation and our website in November 2022 and developed our speaking programs. By spring of 2023, we were engaging schools, parent groups and professional gatherings. Do It For Jack branded apparel is driving awareness across social media as our supporters wear it and share it, from interesting and exotic locations throughout the country and across the globe. They are sharing Jack's story and helping us broaden the conversation.

We are grateful for our board members, partners, donors and volunteers who work tirelessly to help educate the community about the escalating fentanyl crisis.

The Jack Quehl Foundation and Do It For Jack are headed in the right direction, but we need help to continue to spread our message. We are amplifying our marketing and social media efforts to broaden our reach and seeking partnerships with companies and sponsors. This year we will complete a curriculum that anyone can use to speak and educate about the dangers of fentanyl. Our messaging will include a documentary film sharing Jack's story and stories of others who have been fatally poisoned by fentanyl. Our new website will be launching soon.

We don't want to see anyone else lose their Jack. The Jack Quehl Foundation and Do It For Jack want something positive to grow from Jack's death. We hope you will help us in our mission.

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION

The Jack Quehl Foundation and Do It For Jack were established in 2022, in loving memory of John Thomas (“Jack”) Quehl, who tragically lost his life due to fentanyl poisoning on September 20, 2021. Fentanyl is killing a record number of people, including many like Jack who had no warning they were being exposed to it. More and more fentanyl is making its way into the United States, including via counterfeit prescription drugs such as Adderall, Xanax and Percocet. Fentanyl is now the leading cause of death for Americans ages 18-45.
